Florida Public Archaeology Network – Lecture Series

Presented by Dr. Rachel K. Wentz, RPA of the Florida Public Archaeology Network, this five month lecture series about Florida's past and exploring forensic anthropology kicked off with its first lecture on August 10 at the Hart Memorial Central Library. The first installment, titled Life's a Beach: The Archaeology of Florida's Coasts, examined how over 1,300 miles of Florida coastline provided numerous resources for Florida's native populations.
